Child and Booster Seat Guide

01 April 2027 - 31 March 2028

Child restraints for all vehicles

All children aged seven years and under must travel in an approved child restraint. A child's weight, height and physical development influences the type of child restraint in which they are safest travelling in. Guests must refer to the child restraint instruction manual for the child restraint appropriate for their age and size. Below is a guide:

Child Restraint	Child Seat[1]	Booster Seat[2]	Adult lap-sash seatbelt[3]
Applicable Age Group	0 to 4 years	4 to 7 years	7 years or older (and above 148cm tall)

1. Child Seat

Children aged from birth to approximately four years must travel in an approved, properly fastened and adjusted child seat.

You should keep your baby in a rear-facing child restraint until at least 2 years old, depending on their height and weight. Check the child restraint instruction manual for its height and weight information. If the child has outgrown the rear-facing child seat, they must use a properly fastened and adjusted forward-facing child restraint with an in-built harness, appropriate for their age and size.

2. Booster Seat

Children aged between four and seven years must travel in an approved, properly fastened and adjusted, forward-facing child restraint with an in-built harness OR an approved booster seat which is properly positioned and fastened with a standard lap-sash seatbelt; whichever one is appropriate for their age and size. A booster seat should be used until the child reaches 148cm tall.

The booster seat provided may feature a top tether strap that needs to be fitted to an anchor point.

3. Adult Lap-Sash Seatbelt

An adult lap-sash seatbelt is designed for people with a minimum height of 148cm. A child should continue using a forward-facing restraint or booster seat until they have outgrown it.
